

The Covid-19 pandemic has had a tremendous impact on our campus and community. The people of UK Facilities Management remain the “boots on the ground” for UK, providing the essential services needed to keep our campus safe, secure, and positioned to respond to the evolving crisis. The strength each of you demonstrate daily is inspiring and represents such courage and compassion. We are in this together and we will get through it together. Thank you for everything you do. – Mary Vosevich, Vice President for Facilities Management

OUR PEOPLE. ————— OUR STORIES.

Thank You, Facilities Management

This morning, President Capilouto released a video message to the campus expressing his deep gratitude to the work of our Facilities Management team. You can view the full message here: (link). He said:

“In the early mornings when campus is still quiet, and in the middle of our most hectic days and nights, there's a team of people constantly working to keep our communities safe and healthy.

Across campus, from the student center to the hospital, our facilities management teams have responded with determination and compassion to this pandemic. Through it all, they have worked diligently and effectively to ensure we can continue our operations and serve our Commonwealth. And, many conducted this work with understandable anxiety about arranging child care for a young son or daughter who must start the school year online.

So to our staff, who have come in every day to take care of our campus and our community, I want to extend my deepest gratitude.

Because of you, we can heal all those who come to us in a clean, reliable and trusted space. Because of you, we can educate all those who turn to us in innovative and safe ways. And because of you, we can continue to be a beacon of hope as the University of, for and with Kentucky.

Thank you. Thank you for being an unfailing source of support.

You remind us that we will get through this together. Indeed, we will emerge even stronger, even more committed to serving our community, our Commonwealth and far beyond.”
