

The Covid-19 pandemic has had a tremendous impact on our campus and community. The people of UK Facilities Management remain the “boots on the ground” for UK, providing the essential services needed to keep our campus safe, secure, and positioned to respond to the evolving crisis. The strength each of you demonstrate daily is inspiring and represents such courage and compassion. We are in this together and we will get through it together. Thank you for everything you do. – Mary Vosevich, Vice President for Facilities Management

OUR PEOPLE.

OUR STORIES.

The University of Kentucky's 41-18 win over the South Carolina Gamecocks at Kroger Field last Saturday marked the end of the 2020 home season for the Wildcat Football team. The win also marked the completion of another season where our Facilities Management professionals provided critical support to gameday operations inside and outside the stadium; before, during, and long after time expires. Like almost everything this year, the pandemic changed how we provide this support in many ways, but -just like our teams have done all year long- Facilities Management showed up and got the job done. At left, Charlie Laue, Bobby Bray, Chris Elkins and Larry White working the home sideline at the 12/5 football game. GREAT WORK TO EVERYONE INVOLVED WITH THE HOME FOOTBALL SEASON THIS YEAR.

Wayback Wednesday – Commonwealth Stadium

In honor of the Wildcats victory on Saturday, today's trip back through time is football-focused. Commonwealth Stadium, the original name for UK's current home field, was built in 1973. Fun fact: at 47 years old it is the newest stadium in the Southeastern Conference. The playing surface is named C.M. Newton Grounds in honor of the former UK Athletics Director. The stadium had a capacity of 57,800 when built and that was increased to more than 67,000 by renovation in 1999 that also added suites in each corner. The facility was renamed Kroger Field following extensive renovations in 2015 that transformed many aspects of the stadium.

For this week's collage, let celebrate the lights, inflatables, greenery and more that make up our winter holiday decorations. Submit your favorites from this year or years past to shane.tedder@uky.edu by midnight on Thursday, December 10.
