Dental Science DLAR Air Handling Unit Replacement

Last week a talented team completed a 14 day renovation of a major Air Handling Unit (AHU) at the Dental Wing of the Division of Laboratory Animal Resources (DLAR). Completing this large scale facility upgrade in that tight of a window required careful planning, great communication, and skilled execution. Huge shout out to the FMMC Outage Team (David Moody & Austin Ayers), FMMC Project Team (Jamie Carpenter), UEM Controls Team (Jason Goodpaster, David Mullins, Bobbie Tincher & Victoria Allison) and contract partners TP Mechanical (Aaron Scott & Stacy Hendrix). By completing the job so quickly, the team was able to avoid an estimate $250,000 in costs including rental fees for a temporary unit and the fees for a second crane operation. FMMC Engineering and Project Management Manager Tina Arthur praised the team’s work saying,

“This is a prime example of what a seasoned project manager brings to the table. The foresight to plan well in advance to avoid a temporary unit. The forward thinking to impact the users as little as possible. And the vision to utilize the expertise that we have right here within facilities to expedite the project and limit the costs and down time.”
